The 16th English Radio Drama Competition

Theme for This Year

1. Pass the Baton

As time marches on, certain things in our city inevitably fade away, while others withstand the trial of time, by relying on the passing of the baton from one generation to the next. This passing of the baton extends beyond merely tangible skills and knowledge, but also beliefs, spirit and wisdom, which in turn forms the countless stories woven into the fabrics of our city. How do you interpret the term “Pass the Baton”? Express your thoughts through radio drama.

2. Artificial Intelligence

With the rapid advancement of modern technology, accompanied by the emergence of artificial intelligence, we find ourselves contemplating the relationship between humanity and technology. How can society effectively incorporate artificial intelligence? How can we maximize the advantages of AI? At the same time, the threat of the possibility of AI replacing human labour looms in the back of our minds. In this era of accelerated technological development, how should we navigate through this unknown? Share your perspectives in the form of radio drama.

3. Walking a Fine Line

In life, the smallest events can have the most significant impact. This event may seem inconsequential at the time, but may set off a series of events that change your life. For instance, you may decide to take the bus one day instead of the MTR, and end up meeting a stranger who becomes your best friend in life. Or, you decide to sign up for the school chess club just for fun, and end up being one of the best chess players in your school, going to chess tournaments and opening up new opportunities to explore. Looking back, what seemingly insignificant event changed your life? If you could, would you have done anything differently? Share your experiences in the form of radio drama.

Students can learn and enjoy the fun of script-writing and acting; they can also develop team spirit, improve English language skills and build their confidence in expressing themselves in English. It will certainly be a marvelous learning experience for them.

The participants are divided into two levels, primary and secondary. The shortlisted teams from each level are invited to showcase their talents and perform their English Radio Drama LIVE. In 2024, the organization published its latest research paper exploring the effects of radio drama competitions, entitled "Enrich Competencies for Sustainability through Radio Drama Competitions: A Multiyear Cross-sectional Study in Hong Kong" (DOI: 10.5430/jct.v13n1p139). This comprehensive study aims to delve into the various subtle ways in which participation in radio drama competitions can cultivate collaborative spirit, critical thinking, and problem-solving aptitude within the sustainable development framework proposed by UNESCO.
